

Protect Florida's Native Wildlife. Say No to Mallards!

Photo by Marc Epstein

Do not release mallards into the wild
Do not feed or shelter mallards
Consider having mallards removed
Help spread the word

Florida's native mottled duck could face extinction if the releasing of store-bought mallards into the wild does not stop. The two species are crossbreeding, producing hybrid offspring, and each year there are fewer mottled ducks left.

For more information on how you can help, visit MyFWC.com/duck/mottled.

